Example:

Imagine you keep your horse at a yard 72 miles from Thame. You choose to arrange a 'Listening to your Horse' Clinic for 6 people. 2 of the people on the clinic would also like a shared lesson with different horses, 2 of the people on the clinic would like private lessons, and 1 person would like a massage for their horse but does not want to attend the clinic. This is a total of 6hrs teaching (2hrs for the clinic, 1 shared lesson for 1hr, 2 private lessons for 1hr each, and a massage session for 1hr).

As 7 people are involved and the distance between the yard and Thame is 72 miles, the travel costs are £5 per person.

Anyone just doing the clinic pays £40 (£35 for the clinic plus £5 travel).

The people doing the shared lesson as well as the clinic pay £60 each (£35 for the clinic, £20 for the shared lesson, plus £5 travel).

The people having a private lesson as well as the clinic pay £75 each (£35 for the clinic, £35 for the private lesson, plus £5 travel).

The person who would like a massage for her horse but does not want to attend the clinic pays £40 (£35 for the massage, plus £5 travel).
